

All garbage
releases toxic chemicals when burned.

Even paper.

Well, that explains
my indigestion.

If you're making fire, you're making poison.

The garbage you
burn releases
dioxins that settle
in the food we eat.

Bernie the Burn Barrel is a cartoon character of a brown metal barrel with a face, including large blue eyes and a black mustache. He is emitting a plume of dark smoke with yellow and white spots, representing dioxins. He is set against a yellow circular background.

And believe me,
you don't want this
garbage inside you.

If you're making fire, you're making poison.
